Conference Description:

The 2015 Taipei Tech International Conference on Applied Linguistics (APPLINGX 2015), to be hosted by the Department of English at National Taipei University of Technology on November 19-20, 2015, will bring together researchers interested in linguistics, language teaching, discourse, SLA, translation, cultural studies, and other related fields to report new research findings, exchange innovative ideas, and share frameworks in these areas. Since 2006, the Department has carried on a tradition of hosting an annual conference—on applied linguistics studies in odd-numbered years and on literary studies in even-numbered years—to promote academic excellence in the humanities field. Over the years, the conference has attracted applied linguists not only from around Taiwan but also from neighboring Asian countries. This year, we continue this tradition hoping to attract a greater number of international researchers to present research findings in their areas of expertise, with a view to facilitating productive exchanges and fruitful interaction between participants and stimulating new ideas and research directions in their respective fields of study.

Conference Themes:

1. Applied Linguistics: pragmatics, discourse analysis, psycholinguistics, sociolinguistics, corpus linguistics, phraseology, language and culture, language and technology, language assessment, cross-linguistic and cross-cultural communication, gender studies, and other relevant topics
2. Foreign Language Teaching Theory and Practice: L2 acquisition/SLA, content-based instruction, multi-/cross-cultural issues in English education, technology and English education, and other relevant topics
3. ESP Research and Teaching: technical writing, corpus resources, English for vocational education/business/tourism/science/medicine/technology/management, innovations in ESP curriculum design, international/inter-cultural communication, trends and challenges in English for specific purposes
4. Translation Studies: theory and practice of interpretation and translation, interpretation and translation theory, interpretation and translation practice, interpretation and translation teaching
5. Themes otherwise proposed are welcome. Please send proposals to the Host.

Languages: The official languages of the conference are English and Mandarin Chinese. Proposals can be written in either English or Chinese, and each paper should be presented in the language in which it is submitted. For submissions in Chinese, English translations of the title and abstract must also be provided.
